This Standard Work on the Chinese Language, constructed on the basis of Kanghi's Imperial Dictionary, contains all Chinese characters in practical use, and while alphabetically arranged according to the sounds of the oldest dialect of China, the Cantonese, it gives also the Mandarin pronunciation of all characters explained in the at 4 p.m. book, so that its usefulness is by no means confined to the Cantonese Dialect, but the work is a practically complete Thesaurus of the whole Written Language of China, ancient and modern, as used all over the Empire, whilst its introductory chapters serve the purposes of a philological guide

A Supplement, arranged for being bound and used by itself, and containing a List of the Radicals, an Index, and a List of Surnames, will be published and sold separately.

THE CHINESE MAIL.

THIS paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed at Four Dollars per annum delivered in Hongkong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents including postage to Coast ports. It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community amongst whom also are to be found the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan, from Australia, California, Singapore, Ponang, Saigon, and other places frequented by the Chinese,—consider themse'ves justified in guaranteeing a large and ever-increasing circulation. The advantages offered to advertisers are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of

The field open to a paper of this description-conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in toneis almost limitless. It on the one hand commands Chinese belief and interest, while on the other it deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners. Like English journals it contains Editorials, with Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements. Subscription orders for the above may be

In holy rapture, A rousing which at times to vend.

The Chung-ngoi-san-po is much more at home in proving from the Chinese Scriptures that the use of obscene language is no crime but a virtue, when well meant, and that the institution of " saving the sun and moon from colipses," is in harmony with the highest wisdom attainable by man, in spite of the pretended superiority of Western astronomy to that of Yau and Shun, than it is in astronomical calculation. To-day the said paper informs its readers that the sun is a fraction more than five times the size of the earth; and the earth is a fraction less than four times the size of the moon: The moon then is several tens of times smaller than the sun. But the sun is about twenty times further off, which accounts for the moon eclipsing the whole of the sun's disk. If the above round numbers have been handed down from Hi and Ho they cannot be said to have been very accurate astronomers. Anyhow, it is certainly time that the school-master were a little mere abroad in Hongkong. According to the latest reckoning, the sun's diameter is more than a hundred times that of sixty newspapers, dailies and weeklies, There was not a large number of sportsmen at Wong-nei-chong this morning to inaugurate the forth-coming race season, about twenty entering their names in the coffee book. Mr Drude obtaining the post of honour by his attending at 5,50 a.m. The morning air was fresh and clear and the thermometer in the coffee room registered 72 degrees, against 79 degrees on this day last year. The gallant Major, in a very sporting "rig," having ridden round the course to inspect it, everyone waited for a match which was to have come off, but owing to some misapprehension, one of the ponies did not come to the scratch: Just to throw a little life into the scene; Mr Essex took round Ghillie Callum. The pony was rather fresh, and on reaching the opening on to the read, turned off the course and went out of sight, but was brought back and sent in the way he should go. To the same rider belongs the honour of formally opening the course. He took 25th ult.; due here on or about the round Little Warlock, who, while coming down the straight at a good pace, stopped short and bucked, broke a rail and threw his jockey. The pony then fell himself, but was up sooner than his rider and got in well abead; the latter, however, The Eastern & Australian Steamship Co.'s picked himself up and came in smiling, willing to try conclusions again, but an accident having occurred to the saddle. he had to give up and receive the goodhumoured chaff poured on him, one remark being that it was a pity Afong had not been ready to take an instantaneous photograph of his aerial flight. The programme is drawn up in a way calculated to give great satisfaction, and when the ponies arrive, things will soon assume a lively aspect. Two steeple-chases, one for all comers and one for griffing are

Two new cups have been presented to be run for at this meeting, one by His Highness the Maharajah of Johore and the other by Mr Reiners, the one given by the former being called the "Maharajah Cup" and the other the ! Farewell Cap.

The community in general will regret to

Cup is that Mr Reiners is about to leave THE Eastern and Australian Steamship us and return home. During the last few months we have been favoured in Hongkong by the presence of the special correspondents of the three most powerful newspapers in the world. Mr. Colquhoun, the special correspondent of the Times was among us for a short time : Mr Cameron, the special correspondent of the Standard left here by the last English mail after a protracted stay in Hongkong and Tonquin, and Mr Gilder, the special correspondent of the New York Herald is still struggling to pass a happy existence in the Colony, waiting until a cablegram from the office of his paper summons him to importance of the functions of these gentlemen is hardly appreciated by many persons in Hongkong, who do not realise what an immense influence the utterances and news in journals like the Times and New York Herald exercises on the actions of governments and nations. By way of illustrating this influence, we may note that a day or two after the reports of fifteen thouto Europe. Reuter cabled back that the French Government had decided to send strong reinforcements to Tonquin; that the pour-pariers between the Marquis Tsong and the French Minister for Foreign Affairs had again been actively resumed. It is now protty evident that these reports of the crossing of the border at Mong-kai had only a partial foundation in truth, still this only shows our point more clearly. As an illustration of the results of the enterprise displayed by newspapers in the way of special correspondents, we may mention that the French Government had heard nothing of the retirement of General Bouet from Tonquin until they saw the telegraphic intelligence in the London papers that the General had arrived in Hongkong on his way home. The French Ministers were under the impression that the General was leading on his troops to victory in the neighbourhood of Sontay, while the London papers were announcing that the General way back to Europe.

It must be rendered clear by what we have said that special correspondents of influential papers discharge duties of th highest importance. They should men of great discernment, knowledge and discretion. No doubt the three special correspondents who have been recently discharging their duties in Hongkong have exercised considerable influence on the course of affairs between France and China. In the London Figure of September 14th we road :---

The Standard is again fortunate in having Mr Cameron well on the spot in the far East. developed itself. This admirable special, who has so well sustained special correspondleft Madagascar, whence he was able to send where he arrived just in time to render most valuable service to his paper.

the foregoing paragraph, we had been looking through a file of the Standard containing some of Mr Cameron's cablegrams from Hongkong. Mr Cameron is a man of great energy and enterprise. and he has also had extraordinary experionce as a special correspondent. Here, in Hongkong, however, we feel bound to say his instinct for accurately estimating "situations" seems to have somewhat desorted him, while he has unquestionably displayed a tendency to sensationalism: A specimen of the cablegrams he sent home will show what we mean. Telegraphing

The Chinese are reported to be occupied in throwing up defences between Canton and the mouth of the river, in order to oppose any hostile attempt by the French fleet against the city. The garrison in the Bogue forts has been largely reinforced. The question here now is not "Will there be war?" but "When and where will it begin !

The first part of this cablegram may be passed as accurate enough, but we must take objection to the second paragraph. We do not believe the intelligent portion of the community here ever regarded war us absolutely inevitable, so inevitable, in fact, that they gave up all questioning, or doubting, on the subject. On the contrary we know that at the time this telegram was them the onus of blackballing one of their despatched very few clear headed persons number. Such a task is a most ungenerous here thought it was likely war would ensue.

In other despatches of an earlier date he gives slarming news and opinions, which have since been shown to have only had shadowy foundations, and his accounts of the Canton riots were by no means as accurate as they might have been, considering how promptly the correct details of the affair were published in this bered by posterity. The names which are Colony.

tage over Mr Cameron of having a thorough knowledge of the East, gained by experience in Southern China, Burmah and India. In Palestine out of the question. The average the latest Times received there appears a marvellously good description of Touquin, its resources and prospects, from his pen. It occupies about six columns, and constituted the remarkable message he despatched per cable from Colombo. A portion of this message, dealing with the present and future trade of Tonquin, we reproduced last night.

THE present age ought hereafter to be known as the age of congresses, for nowadays, when all kinds of out-of-the-way " isma" and " ologies " are laboriously discussed and ruminated over by assemblages of people from all parts of the world, the subject that does not have a congress to sit upon it must, it is manifest, be indeed an insignificant one. THE question of throwing versus fair bowl-

If this became law, says the World, then every from Hongkong on the 0th September he eleven would contain eleven bowlers, and what little practice is given to their department of the game would cease altogether. Yet for the short period embraced by the time since discovery, the two calculations place the comot in very nearly the same apparent positions as seen from the earth. About once in fifteen or twenty years a comet comes along, which like this, gives the computers a great deal of trouble. "It now appears probable, say the astrocomet is from three to four times as far from both the earth and the sun as the sun is from us. This distance is almost unprecedented at discovery. In fact no case is remembered in which this distance was nearly so great. It appears probable that the comet will not come to perihelien until about June 1st of next year, and that it will remain in telescopic view for a year or more. The plane of its orbit seems to be nearly perpendicular to that of the earth's course about the sun. The perihelion point is indicated by the calculations to be at a distance from the sun not much greater than the carth's average distance "For at least a week or ten days to come, all calculations relative to the course of this seemingly very creatic body must be regardud as quito approximate. The slightest variation in the observed places of a body so distant as this one probably is, throws the resulting elements of the orbit way off. The case might be well illustrated by the results of shooting at a mark 200 yards off with a pistol having a barrel less than an inch long -supposing it would carry so far. With a reasonably good marksman the balls would all take about the same course for the first few feet after leaving the barrel, but their bsequentsource would be entirely a matter an eight-inch bull's-eve at 200 yards, with a pistol whose barrel is one inch long, than it now is to say from observation and calcultion where the Brooks' comet will be (within 10,000,000 miles) at the end of three months. Give us a barrel three inches long and we will give you a dead centre, say the astronomers at the observatory."

The Daily Telegraph, in this dull season. has started a discussion which has filled two of its columns daily with letters from parents who can find no occupations for their sons. Yet it would be easier to hit mon sense, will not see that it is best to leave the genteel clerkly operations to the School Board Boys. If mothers would learn for themselves and teach their daughters to respect a man who is not ashamed to work it would have a great and good effect on society." This lady has undoubtedly hit the right mail on the head in the first part of that which I have quoted, but her remarks upon a young fellow doing manual labour are scarcely necessary, as he would leave England before his occupation proved against him. and he would, if any good, come back independent of everybody, Moreover, people are by no means particular in England hove man from the colonies has made his money so long as he has it. Something must be done; everything is crowded; good men with good experience and good abilities even, if thrown out by the failure of the firm or other causes, find it most difficult to get even a reduced berth; the professions are full to overflowing and the chances of the rising generation, unless a new groove is struck out, are poor indeed. He was mad, and thought the descon had put up the job on him, and he was going to knock the deacon venturers, such as Forgusson, Hattoras, out in two gounds, when min said there was no use of getting mad about a dispensation of providence, and pa said one more such dispensation of providence would just kill him on the spot. They have finally got the house sired, and my chum and me slept on the hay in the barn, after we had opened the outside cellar door so the animal could get out, and the next morning I had the fover and egue, and pa and ma brought me home, and I have been firing quining down my neck over since. Pa says it is malaria. but it is getting up before daylight in the morning and prowling around a farm doing chores before it is time to do chores, and I don't want any more farm. I thought at Sunday school last Sunday, when the superintendent talked about the odor of sanctity that pervaded the house on that beautiful morning, and looked at the deacon that the deacon thought the superintendent was referring to him and pa, but may be it was an accident. Well, I must go home and shoot another charge of quinine into "ne." and the boy went out as if he were on ly spread, and as the operators were on a was anything in sight that would take the his last legs, though he acted as if he were going to have a little fun while he did

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"All our learned societies should sub scribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review."-Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.) "The China Review * * * * has an excellent table of contents."-Celestial Empire. "The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favourable if not advantageous comparison, with preceding numbers."—Celestial Empire.

"This number contains several articles of interest and value."-North-China Herald. The China Review for September-October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterises that publieation, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritsche, on "the Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russiau Observatory at Peking, from 1841 to 1880. "Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formosa," by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and appreciative review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Hua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting."-North-China Daily News.

"A substantial and rollable Review-which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to patronise."—Chrysanthemum. "The November-December number of usual, but the few articles are very interesting. The opening paper by Mr. Herbert A. Giles on "The New Testament in Chinese" treats of a question that must necessarily be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries. . . Mr E. H. Parker's "Short Journeys in Szechuen are continued, and a goodly instalment of these travels in the interior of China is given. Mr F. H. Balfour contributes a daper of some length entitled "The Emderor Chengs founder of the Chinese Em-dire," which will be read with genuine interest by students of Chinese history. A few short notices of New Books and a "On Chinese Oaths in Western Borneo Mails. and Java" might appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete the number."-H.K. Daily Press. Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review:-

The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, some what similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review.
